

Wine Spectator

November 26, 2008

95

COLUMBIA CREST 2005 Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon Columbia Valley

“Ripe in flavor, with a vivid array of black currant, blackberry, violet, black tea and black pepper aromas and flavors that zoom through to a long, expressive finish. Shows subtlety in the layers of complex flavor against a refined structure. Tannins are present but nicely contained.”

